AT THE WEEKLY AND WEEKLY.

PROM CAIMO.

Information having been received that a regu-lar organized body of rebels, living in this county, were lodged within a few miles of Webster, Gen. Kelly dispatched Oxpt. Dayton, of Company A. 4th Vinginia Regiment, with to men from Webster, to disarm them. After-secuting nearly 54 hours, he came modesnly on them yesterday noon, and after as hour's se-vere fighting succeeded in killing 31 and put-ting the rest to flight, without any loss to his own command. The rebals numbered 200, and were composed of the worst characters of this county, led on by Eack Cochrane, Sheriff of this county under the Letcher rule.

The people, outraged by this new humilation—for humilation it is—demand to mow of that Secretary why this thing has sen permitted. He had men and arms a shundance. An intimation from him as Lyon was in danger would have abled regiments from the earth to have one to find gallant commander's sid; and fifth such arms as they could have extensively the provided have attempted the first and arms as they could have attempted to fill up the training of the nation's discontent? We speal to the President to make Mr. Cambon amover.

It was reported yesterday that Gen. Har-dee, with 15,000 rebel troops, had arrived at or near Pilot Knob, Mo., and was threst-isning the Federal forces, 5,000 in number, stationed at Ironton. This is contradicted, however, by the latest dispatches both from St. Louis and Cairo. Our correspondent at the latter place locates him at Green-ville. Wayne county, about fifty miles south

Under the April and June calls only the "borys" from the cities and towns had an epportunity to enlist. But now the farmers' sons have a chance. From every hillside and valley, every prairie and path of timber, will come forth stalwart young me, full of mucles and courage. Up to this time the city chaps have monopolities and the haraconos he had planted on the feverality and the first of the facting but the country ladd will have a long finger in the pile here. Hilnois has undertaken to furnish forty new regiments, besides replacing the aix regiments and detached companies of three months men. The first of October will witness sixty thousand sons of the Prairie State gone forth to chastise the rebels, and reduce them to obedience to the Constitution and the laws.

A sew more weeks will be consumed in preparation, in providing clothes, arms and equipage, and then the Northwestern lives will begin to swarm in good earnest. This States west of the Ohio river, will place in the field a quarter of a million of brave and hardy soldiers before the first frosts of October. One of the most attractive points for service in the State in case of extreme emergencies,—unless they go voluntarily they cannot be ordered out of the State. It is intimated that the State authorities will issue a quota of arms and accontrements to this regiment at ones, on its full formation.

It has been a subject or much laquiry on the part of many of the members of our Home Guard organizations whether if they should join this regiment, they made themselves subject to orders of the General Government officers; and a Committee was appointed at meeting yesterday, to set forth to the public the particular status of the regiment. Gov. Yates has been informed of the action of the Committee.

There are many of our cithens who, could they in justice to themselves and others, go in to service, would do so at once, and now hold

So far as we have been able to learn, and judging from the character of the examining the M. D's (in soldier's vernacular "mean devils,") that render military life unpleasant, and often dangerous. A member of the 2d Ohio Regiment, in service near Washington, was seriously ruptured, and hoping by prompt aid to be able to remain in service, applied to the surgeon for treatment. The remedy essiyed was the application of an oistness, from which it was inferred that broken limbs would hive been mended with sticking plaster, and teeth drawn by administering a handful of gum drops.

ter, and teeth drawn by administering a hand-ful of gum drops.

Another member of the same company was under treatment for weeks, for constituted bowels. He became at last too sick to remain in the earny hospital, and being removed to the civilized region of the Washington City Infirmary, his case was instantly prenounced "a late stage of intermittent fever." The reg-iment afforded numerous cases of similar im-count and may halv to calleblas flow, Denniiment afforded numerous cases of similar im-port, and may help to enlighten Gov. Denni-son, (of Ohio), of some of the reasons why the organization of the regiments could not be maintained.

Much has been said of the in military commanders—not a word too much, probably; but our soldiers want to feel confi-dent of being properly treated when sick or

Good "Goar" on a Buryalo Edizon.—As the whys since Mr. F. the spley correspondent of one of the Buffilo dailles, (and formerly a local editor,) was here on a visit to see the city—tired of rural life. While here, he was exverted times lot, and could not find his way to the Reiges House—as he explained it, on account of our numerous bridges.

Destrous of visiting the last resting place of the lamented Douglas, he stepped aboard a case on State street, headed in the right direction, painty given upon the car. The conductor linew him as one of the "unfortunate Press Gang," and did not call upon him for his fare, which he considered a capillal goak. At the east of the route, however, the joke was turned.

"I have come out to visit the grave of Douglas—oun you point me to the spot?" inquired Mr. F.

"The grave of Douglas, sir, is fully four miles from here—that is on the lake shore, see Cottage Grove, while we are now at the wastern and of Randolph street," replied the consuctor.

"Well," said F., "If this town don't beat the world! From my past three days experience here, I had concluded that all I had to he, was to pass over a bridge, and it would lead me say where I wanted to go. This regiment affords all these men an opportunity to perfect themselves for good service, should an emergency require us to relly to the support of Government; while it is not subject to long and tedious duty until they voluntarily go into actual service. This regiment should be so Chicago and the State what the Seventh Regiment or National Guard is to New York City and State.

Therefore, the public should feel a great interest in it. Every able bodied man may yet be wanted to sid in the defence of our National Union. An opportunity is now afforded to every one to prepare for a duty that soon on enough may devolve on un all, and no man enough may devolve on un all, and no man enough may devolve on un all, and no man way for the Committee.

that gave ine a sense of the horrors of war, and aspecially of war carried on by legilland robbers, cruel and reclaiss. A privateer was seen by a government craiser furthing about the harbor. Entangled in a fog, the Fronch robber was surprised by daybreak within two miles of Dover chalk-cliffs, and out flew at him our winged buil dog. The fight was stubborn. The enemy, when their shot was exhausted, loaded with poker knobs, arreds of iron and tempenny nalis—I am not quite sire if even on this occasion the old story of the captain firing round Dutch cheese at us was not revived. Our sallors were verted at the escape of Le Petit Remard and at the numerous murders and robberies committed by the Prench privateers. The Channel, one safe as the king's highway, had grown dangerous as a cut-throat fane near Hagthot, and our cruisers were to turn "runners" and breath off the secun. Our seamen, too, were the crew of a pre verbinly smart vessel and had the honor of their ship to maintain, and their pride was hurt that the men of La Petit Remard should be able to brag over their wine, in Dunkirk cabarets, how they had been under our very nose and made ulknurs aton of powder without killing a Frenchman or blowing awayween an old stal. So they first pounded the thief well, ernshed him up as hangry man do a blecult riddled his salls, cut away his figurehead, half stove in the stem, then poured in the boarders with a food of cutlasses. In fen minutes the vessel was theirs, and thecaptain, found close to the powder magazine door, was nalled to that door with a boarding pike.

I saw our vessel, the Sus Swallow, roturn, blessoming with flags, and having the French ship in ow I went down to the pier; the English ship was little hurt; already the sails were being parched and the rigging repaired, but the French ship in ya wreek, sails blows not the stript moroing, with the sun burning the fog away, so that it shrivelled from the sky like so much droves from a californ of melting gold. It then commenced to get up and more about considerably on the well leg, which grew extraordinarily fast, while the other actually seemed to diminish, and thrank or aweencyed at the shoulder, till there appeared to be nothing, scarcely, but skin on the aboulder blads. At the end of three weeks the bone was well knit, and I turned the leg loose; but it was now not more than two-thirds as large as the other, and quite three inches shorter. The discovery of the plot was made by a planter, who, being one of those who believe that the megroes must be whipped sometimes with or without cause, had concluded to whip one of his siaves at the above time by way of pastime. It is not here be remembered, that for sometime previous, and especialty, after President Lincoin's discilion, the Southern press had brendeling its best to create an excitement and the leving against the Northerners — warning the people against the Northerners — warning the people against Abolitionists, insurrectionists, and inconclisries—assuring them countantly that the Northerners injended to put an end to slavery by sanding emissaries to tamper with slaves, and induce them to repeat so-cilled "John Brown Reida". Thus, the most stirring accounts of Abolitionists and their doings were set in circuistion, and were cagerly believed by the frightened slaveocrasey. The planter, in these whipping his negro without cause, except to keep him in due respect of his master's supremacy, was acting according to the custom of the greater number of slave-holders. While the punishment was in progress, the poor slave asked:

"Massas, why do you whip me? I have tried to do right, massa." o do right, massa."

The poor save in his desir. to astisty the trant and stop the lashes recoiled all his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled all his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled all his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled all his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled all his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled at his old trant and stop the lashes recoiled at his old trant and the last was administered. With increasing agony the size prayed, "O stop, massa, I will tell all you want." He was then saked:

"Harve'nt you hately been speaking about Mr. Lincoln to the niggers?"

"Yes, massa, "was the reply."

"One type comprise to make yourself free!" (continuing, whilp ping.) "Don't you compire to make yoursell free; (continuing whit ping."

"Don't you intend to kill all the white people?"
"Yes, massa, O stop, massa?"
By this time the planter had worked himself into such a state of excitement that he continued striking his slave in the most crash-manner, sking all sorts of questions which his irritated state of mind suggested—all of which his victim, would invariably confirm by nttering, "Yes, massa, O massa! don't kill me!"
Not daring thus to deny any question what ever, the slave confessed that he, together with several other negroes whom he mentioned, had conspired to rise on Christianse ever, and that he intended to kill his master with an ext. This confession laturiated the planter; and, slice having carefully secured like negro by tying up has hands and feet, he proceeded to impart the disclosures to he neighbors, who, of course, believing every word, became equally excited, and run for their gims and platois—arrested those who were implicated or suppected—and kept the structest watch over the rest, threatening to the of down any negro, man or woman, who

A slave, during the process, was asked by a bystander, "Don't you niggers intend to gat married to white women?" The question, after being repeated everal times, was at last asswared in the effirmative. Being asked to give the name of the white woman whom he was to get he mentioned, the wife of Martin Noll, who happened to be present. A CRISIS APPROACHING.

From the Cincinsati Gasette, Asquat 8th.]
A physician from Macon, Georgia, Dr. Braisdell, is now in this city, having been driven from Macon, on twenty four hours' notice, for no reason except that he was of Northern birth, and was known to be familiar with Southern defences, troops, arms, &c. Dr. Blaisdell has resided for many years in Georgia, and all his interests were identified with the South. He owned a plantation, with some forty alaves, all of which, with a large amount of other property, was declared confiscated to the State; and men to whom he had loaned considerable sums of money but a few days before, absolutely refused to pay back to him. to the State, and men to whom he had loaned considerable sums of money but a few days before, absolutely refused to pay back to him enough to defray his travelling expenses. He had just returned from a two weeks 'visit to Richmond and Manassas, when he was ordered to leave, and some of his statements concerning the battle are of special interest.

He pronounces the whole story of Joff. Davis having taken command in person in the sternoon, or having been with the troops at all during taken command in person in the sternoon, or having been with the troops at all during the fight. a pure fittion. So of the other story about the undermining around Manassas, which he says that rebels would not day to the sternoon of the sample reason that they have too many disaffected in their own ranks, who would be only too gird of the opportunities that would thus be alforded. A more important fact, and one which we commend to the strenton of the inflifiery authorities having control of the incomments is Western the stantion of the military authorities hav-ing control of the movements in Western Virginia, in that, as Dr. B. was coming through Atlanta, 6s., last Sunday, on his way North, sive thousand volunteers were leaving there for Staunton and Western Vinginia, to wipe out the diagrace of Ool. Ramsay's crack Geor-gia troops, Incurred at Chest Rivor. They were without arms, but Davis had telegraphed to send them on, as he had taken a large for of Northern arms, and could supply them, on their arrival in Virginia. Dr. B. asys that the Southern supply of arms are almost exhausted—a statement which the proclamation of the Governor of Georgia, pubarms. Very few of the soldters have improved weapons: there are not more than 5,000 Mine rides in the whole Southern army, and the reat have only the stoken United States musical. In Georgia, workshops were being opened for changing the country rides to antiform bore, and for faxing bayonels to them and to the double-barreled, shot guns. At tempts were being made, in accordance with the Governor's proclamation, to get these private arms brought in for the use of the irrops, but the planters were afraid to give them up for five of the tagross.

He estimates the number of troops now in Virginia at about 175,000. Some are fleaty drilled, but most of them as re disposed to be issultordinate. But a short time a... on there had been an actual rebellion in the Third (corgia Regiment, stationed at Gooper Navy
